

Bottle of Fine Red Wine - House Portis 2397

This gorgeous deep red wine is scorchingly intense yet sugary sweet, reminiscent of brilliant sunsets and glorious fires. The taste is bright, sharp, and complex, with undertones of golden honey and foreign spices.

Bottle of Fine White Wine - Brilla Family 2398

Said to be the drink of young lovers, this blissful white wine sings of summer weddings and stolen kisses. The delicate balance of chardonnay grapes and underripe pears crafts a soft, mellow taste which rolls across the tongue.

Bottle of Fine Rose Wine - Grapes of Light 2402

Fermented over centuries by the famous monks of Metus, this silky rose wine was once reserved purely for religious ceremony. Now, the drink is a luxury only the very wealthiest can afford.

Bottle of Cheap Wine

This murky green bottle bears no label, but it needs no introduction. It smells like wine and will make you drunk... and possibly blind.

Cultist Armour

The slick black leather glistens darkly in the light, smelling faintly of cold iron and damp nightshade.

Frostkeeper Armour

Lined with white goatskin and warm wolf fur, this heavy armour keeps the biting winter chill at bay.

Worn Pyromancer Armour

Black soot and red dust smother the layers of singed brown leather. Supposedly, this armour grants fire resistance, but looking at it now, you're not so sure.

Precision Knife

A small but surprisingly sharp tool used to handle the intricate details of jewellery making.

Rock Hammer

A lightweight hammer used to mine and split rocks... and occasionally break out of jail.

Sapphire

Rare and exceedingly beautiful, this dark blue gemstone shimmers with deep intensity.

Diamond

The light of a thousand stars dances across the sharp stone surface, sparkling with the promise of eternal love.

Phaedron's Bow

Dark and powerful energy vibrates along the bowstring's edge, humming with the eerie echo of a distant scream.